TO PREVENT WAR.

Diplomatic Pressure Will Be Brought to Bear Upon Colombia by Foreign Powers.

THE FIRST STEP HAS BEEN TAKEN

Gen. Reyes Informed of the Futility of Any Attempt by Colombia to Retake Panama.

It Will Result Only in Precipitating the Bogota Government into a Conflict With United States Which Would Be Ruinous.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Diplomatic pressure will be brought to bear upon Colombia by several European powers to prevent war between that country and the United States. The first step in this direction has already been taken by several foreign powers through their representatives here who have informed Gen. Rafael Reyes of the futility of any attempt by Colombia to retake Panama, declaring that it will result only in precipitating the Bogota government into war with the United States and have said to him that the result of such a catastrophe Colombia herself must realize if this is not sufficient, the representatives of these countries at Bogota will be instructed to inform President Marroquin that Colombia can expect no sympathy from the European powers in any move she may make on Panama which would inevitably involve her in war with the United States.

The members of the diplomatic corps have been informed by Gen. Reyes himself that he fears he can with difficulty check his people much longer. Gen. Reyes is not talking for publication, but in the several European ambassadors he has confided his fears with frankness and has said that he is doing everything in his power to prevent an outbreak before the conclusion of his mission, but that although his influence with the army is considerable, he is so far away that it is difficult for him to make this felt as strongly as if he were on the ground and in command.

Diplomats whom Gen. Reyes has approached on the subject say that what he most fears is the result of the announcement at Bogota of the failure of his mission. He himself realizes that the most he can hope from the government of the United States is an offer that it will use moral suasion to prevail on Panama to assume her portion of the Colombian debt. Further Gen. Reyes has been told he can expect nothing.

Realization of true situation, it is said, will not prevent Gen. Reyes from calling on the United States for a reference to The Hague of several of the questions at issue.

It is on this point that European diplomats have told Gen. Reyes that it is expecting too much to expect this government to submit any phase of the Panama matter to The Hague. Several ambassadors have earnestly advised the general to impress on his people the fact that Europe wants the isthmian canal and that Colombia can expect no sympathy from that quarter. It has further been pointed out by these diplomats that the proffered sympathy of several South American republics can avail Colombia nothing in the event of war with the United States.

It is hoped that the receipt of this news in Bogota will do much to calm the feeling there and hold the Colombians in check until Gen. Reyes can return.

Great Britain and The Netherlands have taken pains to let Gen. Reyes know indirectly that Colombia reckons without her host if she interprets their delay in recognizing the republic of Panama as an evidence of their sympathy for Colombia or as due to other than a desire to protect the interests of their financiers who are the largest holders of government bonds. It is said to be unlikely that our naval commanders in isthmian waters will go to the extent of dislodging the Colombian troops which have landed on the Island of Pines. On this point, however, the policy of the government has not been definitely decided.

NEW STATE CAPITOL.

It Is Possible Without Extra Taxation Says Auditor Coulter.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 22.—In his report to the general assembly, just completed, Auditor Coulter has the following to say in the matter of the appropriation for a new state capitol: "Inquiry has been made of the auditor by various members of the general assembly and by quite a number of citizens of the state as to whether or not the present revenues of the state would provide sufficient funds to build and furnish new capitol buildings. I have given this careful consideration and thorough investigation, and for answer will say that if the general assembly should decide to make an appropriation for the erection of a new capitol the present revenues, if left unimpaired, and vigorously administered, will be able to furnish in excess of the current expenses at least $400,000 per annum until the purpose of the appropriation be accomplished.

"It will not be necessary to borrow a dollar, nor increase the present rate of taxation to secure money necessary for capitol building purposes.

"By a painstaking and vigilant administration of the fiscal department of the government, and the practice of rigid frugality with regard to expenses of all departments of government throughout the state, a surplus equal to the demands of the proposed public buildings can be quite easily accumulated.

"It will require at least three and possibly four years to complete the capitol buildings. It will be more economical, and certainly more business-like, to provide in the appropriation bill that a certain stipulated sum be set apart for this purpose out of each year's revenues, until the aggregate amount appropriated is consumed."

An Important Decision.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 22.—As a result of the decision of the court of appeals in the Kentucky Traction Co. case, the Shelbyville extension of the Louisville & Eastern railway will be built and an issue of $4,000,000 of bonds will be made by the Kentucky Traction Co. The decision will open the way for the building of many new electric lines and will bring many millions of dollars of foreign capital into the state.

Picketing of Houses From Which Funerals Are to Start Will Be Prevented by Police.

Officers Ordered to Accompany Funerals in Carriages, if Circumstances Require it, to See That They Are Not Molested.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—Picketing of houses from which funerals are to start, whether peaceful or violent, by union livery drivers who went on strike four days ago, and which has seriously interfered with the burial of the dead in Chicago, is to be prevented by the police under direct orders issued by Chief of Police O'Neil. J. R. Wadsworth, secretary, and Charles Stevens, business agent of the liverymen's union, were summoned before Chief O'Neil Monday night and told in decidedly plain language that any differences the union might have would have to be settled away from the houses of mourning.

"This picketing of the homes from which funerals are being held is beyond the toleration of a civilized community," said Chief O'Neil. "Your zeal has carried you beyond the pale of endurance, and such an unheard-of thing as carrying labor troubles to the houses of the dead will not be allowed by the police. Under no circumstances will I permit picketing of any kind around a house where a funeral is to proceed. And I must say that it ought not to be necessary for me to take this step.

"Law or no law, picketing of every kind around these houses will have to stop. I shall take my chances with the courts on the question, if my conduct is questioned in any court."

Chief O'Neil then issued a general order to all the inspectors of police, on the line of his conversation with the two union officials. He instructed the commanding officers to accompany funerals in carriages, if circumstances seemed to require it, to see that the last rites of the dead were in no way interfered with.

While the courts have inclined to permitting peaceful picketing, Chief O'Neil's order tends to prohibit picketing of any kind around the houses of mourning.

On top of Chief O'Neil's order came the announcement Monday night that peace plans looking to a settlement of the strike had been launched. Through the efforts of the Chicago board of arbitration, which was largely instrumental in the settlement of the laundry strike last summer, a committee of four was appointed at a meeting of the four liverymen and undertakers' associations to meet with a committee of four from the drivers' union and endeavor to bring about an amicable adjustment of the trouble.

The committee got together Monday night and agreed upon a basis of arbitrating the difficulty. The proposition will be submitted to a vote of the men on both sides Tuesday and it is said that the result probably will be an agreement to settle everything by arbitration.

Nicholls, president of District No. 1, of the United Mine Workers, at Scranton, Pa.

Justice Lyon adjourned the case until Tuesday. If the motion is granted attorneys for Mr. Wales and those representing Mr. Mitchell will go to Scranton and examine Mr. Nicholls.

John Norston, of Danbury, Ct., fell from a load of hay, striking on his head and breaking his neck. He has been almost paralyzed for weeks and Dr. Jepson decided to operate on his broken neck. Accordingly a portion of the third cervical vertebrae was removed, the false growth of tissue was cleaned out and the bone replaced. The patient is doing well with every prospect of recovery. Operations have been performed for the relief of a dislocating of the lumbar vertebrae, but no case is known in which the cervical vertebrae, situated so near the medulla oblongata, the seat of the vital bodily functions, was successfully removed and replaced.

Townsend, the skipper of the lumber schooner Charles Buckley, on November 10, the prisoner admitted his guilt, and a written confession was submitted in which he declared that he had shot the captain deliberately and with premeditation, because the latter owed him money, and that he desired to facilitate the trial because he preferred to be executed rather than remain in prison. The confession further stated that the prisoner had previously killed three men. The trial was continued.

Herrmann Lumber Co. A quarter of a million dollars damage was done. Battalion Chief Martin Coleman is believed to have perished in the fall of two great walls of the factory.

Bonds that are intended for refunding must be forwarded so as to be received at the treasury department not later than December 31.

IN A POWER HOUSE

A Battery of Seven Boilers Exploded With Terrible Effect in St. Louis.

FOUR PEOPLE KNOWN TO BE DEAD

The Building Was Totally Wrecked and 13 Workmen Injured, Some of Whom Will Die.

The Explosion, Which Came Without Premonition, Broke Window Panes For Several Blocks in Vicinity—Work of Rescue Difficult.

St. Louis, Dec. 22.—A battery of seven boilers exploded in the power house of the St. Louis Transit Co. exploded Monday night, killing three employees, injuring six and wrecking the building. The force of the explosion broke window panes for several blocks in the vicinity. Without premonition the boilers let go, the brick walls fell outward and the heavy truss roof dropped, covering the debris in which almost 20 employees were imprisoned.

Instantly all the electric lights went out and the darkness prevented prompt work in rescuing the injured, whose cries could be plainly heard. Fire broke out in one portion of the debris, but was extinguished before it had gained much headway.

The dead: W. Wilson, steamfitter; Louis Barber, colored; Frank Steele, colored.

Injured: Wm. Gantt, will die; Dennis O'Leary, Peter valley, colored; Simon Mixen, colored, will probably die; Charles G. Thompson, colored; Joseph Grooms, colored. All but Wilson were stokers and boiler cleaners. A fire alarm and ambulance calls were sent in immediately and soon an army of rescuers were at work with lanterns and torches. Wilson and Barber were the first found, and both were barely alive, but died on the way to the hospital.

The falling of the heavy roof so completely covered the debris that the rescuers could make their way but slowly into the center of the mass, where the majority of the employees were at work when the explosion occurred, and it is thought probable that the list of dead may be lengthened by daylight.

The cause of the explosion is not known. Several street car lines were brought to a stand-still for a time for lack of power, but other power houses were hastily connected and the cars were soon put into operation.

At 1:30 o'clock a gang of 150 workmen had reached the center of the ruins and found the dead body of an unidentified Negro. Seven more injured men had been rescued, making 13 injured and four dead.

It is generally believed that more bodies will be found. Robert Fulton, the engineer, is missing and is believed to be dead.

One boiler was hurled nearly two blocks by the force of the explosion and fell into the street, narrowly missing some pedestrians.

INTO AN OPEN SWITCH.

Nine Persons Killed and Over 30 Injured at Godfrey, Kan.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 22.—The Meteor, the fast train on the St. Louis & San Francisco railway, which left Ft. Worth Sunday afternoon for Kansas City, was wrecked at Godfrey, 15 miles south of Ft. Scott, Kan., Monday morning. The train ran into a switch and all except the sleeper were derailed and turned over. Nine persons were killed and over 30 injured. The dead and injured were taken to Ft. Scott and arrived in that city at 11 o'clock.

When the train reached Godfrey it was behind and running at full speed to make up time. The crew of a freight train that had preceded the Meteor left the switch open and the passenger train jumped the track and rolled down an embankment. All save the sleeper turned over. So fast was the train running that the engine and the forward car went nearly 60 feet off the roadbed before they stopped. The sleeper remained upright and none of the passengers in this car were injured. The baggage cars were completely wrecked, and the smoker was badly damaged. Five of those killed were in the forward end of the smoker and four of them were instantly killed. A news agent who was badly mangled died on the relief train that carried the dead and injured to Ft. Scott.

Six Passengers Injured.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 22.—The south-bound passenger train on the Queen & Crescent, which left Cincinnati Sunday morning, collided head-on with a freight near Cotondale, 40 miles southwest of here Monday. Six passengers were injured.

COLONEL BRECKINRIDGE says in an editorial notice of the late President of the Civil Service Commission, John R. Proctor:

He won, and deserved to win, the confidence of the Presidents under whom he served and those with whom he served; and it is severely true that he was the very most serviceable, successful and valuable member of that commission since its organization, and he did a great and most profitable work during his long service. But we desire to call attention to the somewhat remarkable fact that during almost thirty years there was not a single death among this group of friends and associates.

He was in Andersonville, Libby, Belle Isle, Florence and several others. He was wounded twice, had smallpox while there and nearly died with scurvy, from which he is a great sufferer yet."

Colonel Roger D. Williams, the commanding officer of the Second Kentucky Regiment of State Guards, was in Covington Friday investigating the theft of a lot of guns from the Covington Armory. The three members of the Covington company, Lieutenant Stephens, Sergeant Schumate and Private Thomas, charged with the robbery, are under arrest. Colonel Williams called attention to the fact that Stephens and Schumate had seen service in the Philippines, and that it had been noticed that a large percentage of soldiers who have returned from there have become mentally afflicted. He believes that neither Stephens nor Schumate are mentally responsible for their acts.

JOHN R. PROCTOR.

Late President of Civil Service Commission a True Son of Kentucky.

Deserved Tribute to a Native of Mason County Who Achieved Great Distinction in Public Life.

[Louisville Commercial.]

Until he was appointed a member of the Civil Service Commission by President Cleveland, John R. Proctor spent almost all of his time in Kentucky, and but few men had a wider acquaintance among the people of the State from one end to the other. His duties as the head of the State Geological Survey caused his presence in every section. Wherever he went he made friends, as he possessed a genial disposition, which rendered him popular with all classes with which he came in contact.

At the same time he possessed a firm determination and a sense of fairness to all men which could not be changed. It was this devotion to what he believed was fair to his subordinates in the geological service which brought him into conflict with the spoilsman of his party, and resulted not only in his leaving the State, but also in the cessation of work on the State Geological Survey.

Gov. John Young Brown, when he went into office, insisted that a number of men who had been employed in the geological survey for years should be dismissed and their places given to inexperienced men who had rendered distinguished political services in the campaign which resulted in Gov. Brown's election. Mr. Proctor flatly refused to accede to this request, and informed Gov. Brown that as long as he was at the head of the survey the places would be given for merit, and not as a reward for political service, and that no man who did satisfactory work should be discharged to make room for political henchmen. The stand taken by Mr. Proctor aroused the ire of the Governor, and after a fight which lasted for several months and aroused intense interest all over the State, Gov. Brown secured the passage of a bill through the Legislature which put an end to the geological survey.

At that time the principle that political offices should go as a reward of merit and not for political services was occupying a prominent place in the public mind, and the Civil Service Commission was for the first time fulfilling the purpose for which it was instituted. President Cleveland felt the need of a man who had the principles of civil service at heart and would not hesitate to do what was fair in the face of opposition. The stand which Mr. Proctor took in the State fight attracted the President's attention, and as soon as there was a vacancy in the commission Proctor was given the place. He was shortly afterward elected the President of the board, which position he retained up to the time of his death. To no man more than he is due the wide extension of the service during the past ten years, and under his direction the work of the commission has been practically revolutionized.

As a scientist Mr. Proctor took high rank, although in later years his duties in Washington prevented him from taking the active interest in scientific subjects which he did before his removal to that city. To his efforts is due much of the development of the mineral resources of Kentucky in recent years, and many of the plans which he made while at the head of the survey have since resulted in great strides being made in the industrial development of the State.

Although born on a farm and spending much of his life there, Mr. Proctor was one of the best educated men, both on scientific and economic subjects, which Kentucky has produced in many years. He was at home in the discussion of almost any subject, and although his work on the Civil Service Commission was most onerous, he found time to be a contributor to many of the scientific magazines, and his books and papers have taken a high rank among the contributions to science in recent years.

Mr. Proctor was a brilliant conversationalist, as the many friends which he had in Louisville will testify. Possessed of a telling wit, a good story teller and a great fund of general information, he was a frequent and welcome visitor to many Louisville homes during the years he was connected with the geological survey.

Col. R. T. Durrett, who was one of the closest friends which Mr. Proctor had in Louisville, said that there were but few men with whom he enjoyed conversing more than with Mr. Proctor.

"He has spent many an evening here in my library, and we have discussed almost every subject under the sun, and he was equally at home in all of them," Col. Durrett said.

It was with the geologists here and in other parts of the State that Mr. Proctor had his closest friendships. He made this subject a lifelong study, and many of the books which he wrote while connected with the survey are still regarded as authorities. When in Louisville he almost constant companion was Major William J. Davis, formerly Secretary of the School Board. Major Davis said last night that the death of Mr. Proctor would be felt as a distinct loss by geologists in all parts of the country. Gen. Basil W. Duke was another intimate friend of Mr. Proctor, their friendship dating from the time when they met in the Confederate army, which he joined.

Immediately after leaving school he joined the Confederate army. His military experience was without incident, and at the close of the war he returned to the Mason County farm and resumed his scientific studies.

The State Geological Survey, under Prof. Shaler, was then in progress, and he was made assistant to the professor. His work in this line attracted immediate attention, and on the retirement of Prof. Shaler he was placed at the head of the survey in 1880. Under his direction the work was pushed with vigor, and important results were secured at once. From the time at which he was made the head of the survey Mr. Proctor adopted the principle that all appointments and promotions in the service under him must be governed by merit alone. This principle soon brought him into conflict with politicians in all parts of the State. He maintained the stand which he had taken in the face of all opposition, although he made many enemies by doing so. It is said that during his administration of the affairs of the bureau not one appointment was made for any other cause than for actual fitness for the position to be filled.

In 1869 Mr. Proctor married Miss Julia Potter Dobyns. Three sons resulted from this union. Andrew Morton Proctor is now a Lieutenant in the United States navy, and John R. Proctor, Jr., is a Lieutenant in the artillery service of the army.

Mr. Proctor was a member of the Geological Society of America, a Fellow of the American Society for the Advancement of Science, the President of the Cosmos Club of Washington, and a member of the Century Association of New York.

But prices are prosy enough. WE MARK EVERYTHING IN PLAIN FIGURES at the same fair percentage of profit that has made this store the largest in Maysville in less than three years.

Rev. Holton Frank Undergoes Second Operation.

[Lexington Leader, Monday.]

Rev. Holton Frank, who has been seriously ill at St. Joseph's Hospital for several weeks, and whose life at one time was despaired of, was operated on to-day in the hope of gaining relief. Mr. Frank's condition is weak and the operation will necessarily entail a heavy tax on his physical energies.

It is not possible as yet to predict the result of the operation as he was under the influence of anaesthetics as the Leader went to press, but it is believed that he will rally and the operation prove successful. Mr. Frank's family are at his bedside.

You Are Invited

To visit my store and inspect my immense stock. It is now full and complete. It is clean and up-to-date. In variety it can't be beat. In quality no better can be produced.

Specialties For the Holidays.....

An unusually large stock of FIREWORKS and CANDIES of all kinds, Nuts, mixed and un-mixed; also, Oranges, Bananas, Lemons, Apples, Figs, Raisins, Dates, Citron, Lemon and Orange Peel, Dried Fruits, Prunes, Maple Sugar, Buckwheat Flour, Catsups, Oyster Cocktail Sauce, and every article in the Fancy Grocery Line; Oysters, Celery and Cranberries, Poultry and Game. My stock of Fine Teas is unusually large, and my stock of Canned Goods can't be surpassed, either in quantity or quality. Before the late heavy advances in Green Coffee I laid in a large supply. My goods in that line are attractive. My arrangements with a Southern planter who produces the goods enable me at all times to offer the Purest and Best Open Kettle New Crop MOLASSES. My stock is now unusually large. Have just received from the packers in Boston a very large invoice of FINE MACKEREL in kils and barrels; quality extra. My Roasted Coffee are always fresh and quality unsurpassed. My Special Blend at 25c. has no equal for the money. Perfection Flour is always the best. You make no mistake when you buy it.

Remember, I buy my goods in large quantities from first hands and can meet anybody's price; and don't forget I both WHOLESALE and RETAIL. Because of my largely increased business I was compelled to buy another house for storage room, and it is now full.

CHARGED WITH CUTTING.

Warrants Issued For Two Parties as Result of an Affray Saturday Night.

Warrants were issued Monday afternoon for William Gunn and John Maher, charging them with cutting and wounding Stan Porter. The accused were probably expecting some such action and left town on the westbound F. F. V.

Porter was cut in Mitchell & Burgoyne's saloon about 11 o'clock Saturday night and Monday forenoon claimed to Policeman Rosser that he did not know the guilty party and said he would not prosecute. Chief Donovan, after making an investigation, saw Porter and the latter then gave fuller details of the affair.

Porter was in the saloon when the others entered. All had been drinking. Some words passed between them, and Maher knocked Porter down. The cutting followed, and Porter says he is quite positive Gunn did it. This is his account of the affair as told to the Chief. Porter's wound is not serious.

Maher came here from Lexington about two weeks ago.

The Lawrence Creek Christian Church Sunday school will have an entertainment Thursday night at the church at 7:30 o'clock. Admission 10 cents. Children under twelve free. All invited.

Maggie Sroufe, colored, aged seventeen, perished in the fire that destroyed Rust Hall at Walden University, Nashville. She was among those reported missing and the bodies of all were recovered Monday.

Thomas Lowry, who is awaiting trial in the Mason Circuit Court on the charge of stealing a diamond stud from Mr. W. R. Varian; is said to be from Louisville. Certain politicians of that city are said to be making strenuous efforts to stop the prosecution.

John L. Walsh, formerly with J. Balenger, of this city, invites his Maysville friends to call on him at George Simpers', 717 Vine St., near Eighth, to see one of the finest lines of watches, diamonds, jewelry and Xmas. goods in Cincinnati. Call for John.

The audience that witnessed "Quincy Adams Sawyer" at the opera house last night seemed well pleased with the entertainment. The company carries all the scenery necessary to the proper staging of the play, and gives patrons "their money's worth."

Mrs. Cecile Lynette Meeker sang two solos at the Christian Church Sunday, to the delight of the audience. She has a very sweet soprano voice, and many who heard her will no doubt avail themselves of the opportunity to hear her again at the benefit entertainments at Neptune Hall to-day and to-morrow.

Mr. Murray Hubbard, who married Miss Hord of this county, was recommended for Assistant Secretary of State by Secretary-elect McCheaney, but Gov. Beckham declined to approve the appointment. It is claimed the next Senatorial fight figures in the turn down.

Congressman Kehoe has introduced a bill granting an increase of pension to Luther Bratton. Also, a bill granting an increase of pension to Christian Bothman, and bills for the relief of Robert Burnett and Henry O. Prater, and granting an increase of pension to Jefferson S. Keeton.

Mrs. Cecile Lynette Meeker, who will sing at Neptune Hall this evening and Wednesday evening for the benefit of the free coal fund, is a singer of much power and merit. Besides the performance of Mrs. Meeker, the series of wonderfully vivid and life-like moving pictures, portraying scenes and incidents that have occurred in various parts of the globe, will be interesting.

TO OUR PATRONS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL:

The indications strongly point to the best holiday trade we have enjoyed for many years. The inducements we are holding out in prices, considering the class of goods we carry, must appeal to the intelligent people. Did they not, the public would not flock to our store as they do.

We need not again enumerate the elegant, sensible and useful lines of merchandise suitable for Christmas presents.

Our window displays tell that story better than we can tell it in the newspapers.

We ask our friends, and particularly those near home, not to defer their shopping in our line until the last day or two before the holidays. It is always best to avoid the rush incident to the last two or three days before Christmas.

In the last twenty-four hours we received a new supply of Choice Mufflers and Gloves. We call particular attention to them on account of their elegance.

We give Globe Trading Stamps.
